RESIDENT GUIDE

Reunion Property Owner's Association

Welcome!

Welcome to Reunion! There's never been a better time to join the Reunion community, where neighbors are more like family and friends are around every corner. Home to more than 1,000 families, Reunion is arguably the most vibrant, family-oriented neighborhood in Mississippi.

Our Story

In the 1990s, local attorney David Nutt acquired some 2,100 acres of what had once been the Johnstone's family estate. As Madison the city grew around it, Nutt crafted a plan to make this stretch of land a gathering place for a new generation. A master plan for the unique neighborhood that would be called Reunion was born, and the first homes were built in the 2000s.

Families were drawn to the wide range of amenities that only a property this expansive could offer, including an equestrian center, hiking and biking paths, and 400 acres of lakes stocked with fish. The centerpiece of it all was the full-scale country club, complete with a par-72 championship golf course.

Reunion Hall

The Johnstone family established the community in the late 1800s and built their home amongst the oak trees. Today, Reunion Hall still stands at the main entrance with its grand antebellum columns, welcoming residents home. A recognizable backdrop of family photos, wedding portraits and many important milestones, Reunion Hall serves as our Welcome Center and office for the POA and Developer.
